

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Nancy Baker, INMED Communications Director
540-533-7490, nbaker@inmed.org

Alexis Doty Shares Expertise as New INMED Opportunity Center Trustee

STERLING, VA (February 19, 2018): INMED Partnerships for Children is pleased to announce that Alexis Doty of f22 Video Solutions has joined the Board of Trustees of INMED's Family & Youth Opportunity Center in Sterling, Virginia. As Owner and Creative Director of the Herndon-based firm, she specializes in online-optimized video productions, including marketing support, web series, corporate videos, commercials, documentation and training videos.

Over the past 24 years, Ms. Doty has produced videography for the FBI, The Great Courses, Department of Transportation, Holton-Arms School, The Home Depot, Coca-Cola, UPS, IBM, Center for Disease Control and Wal-Mart, to name a few. In addition to donating her time to INMED, she is mentoring budding artists at the Art Institute.

"We're so fortunate to have such an accomplished media expert on our Board of Trustees," said Opportunity Center Programs Director Maria Vasquez. "She is extremely generous with her talents and already has produced a beautiful video on our after-school academic enrichment program for at-risk children."

INMED has been serving low-income communities in Loudoun since 1994. Its Family & Youth Opportunity Center was established in 2014 to provide a continuum of care and support from the prenatal period through adulthood via home visiting services to promote child development and parenting skills, case management to prevent homelessness, center- and community-based family education and financial literacy classes, after-school academic enrichment, STEAM-focused summer camps, workforce skills development and job fairs.

To see the video that f22 produced for INMED's Opportunity Center, visit <https://opportunitycenter.us/>