MARCH 2

Help Save Youth Programs Threatened by Federal Budget Cuts

March 02, 2011
 Ashburn, VA

Dear friend,

February 19, 2011 was a bad day for advocates of youth in the United States. The House passed H.R. 1, its budget proposal for the 2011 fiscal year, recommending $100 billion in cuts that would end funding for a number of youth programs, including Mentoring Children of Prisoners.

The result?

Thousands of children in the US will no longer have access to the resources they need to cope with the instability, the loss and the stigma of having an incarcerated parent.

The solution?

The proposal is now headed to the Senate, and it is crucial that we let them know how vital the funding is for Mentoring Children of Prisoners.

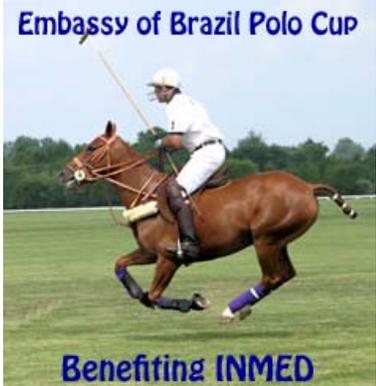

Please, as an advocate for our youth and as an important voice in your constituency, let your senator know how strongly you feel about the cuts. There isn't much time – please don't delay, please personalize and send the letter to your representative today!

Thank you for adding your voice, and for speaking on behalf of the youth.
